

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Purkinje ePrescribe honored at TEPR Conference

St. Louis, MO – May 31, 2006 -- Purkinje, a leading provider of medical software and services, received second honors in the e-prescribing competition at the Medical Records Institute's (MRI) 2006 TEPR Conference. The award was announced during the conference's opening session on May 22, 2006.

Purkinje ePrescribe was the only system to receive a perfect 10 out of 10 for improving patient safety and Purkinje was the only finalist to present peer reviewed studies exhibiting the proven impact the system has on patient care as well as prescription costs.

Purkinje's electronic prescribing system presents integrated clinical decision support at the point of prescribing based on empirical medical evidence and gives doctors visibility into both the cost and efficacy of various medication based therapies. This information is seamlessly integrated within physician workflow enabling timely and informed decision making.

"It is our mission to make a positive and measurable impact on the cost and quality of healthcare delivery." said Tom Doerr, M.D., Purkinje's Chief Medical Officer. "It was great to see our efforts recognized by MRI and this award will surely reinforce the importance of producing electronic prescribing tools that go beyond simply automating paper based processes."

About Purkinje

Purkinje provides products and services focused on improving the clinical, financial, and administrative aspects of delivering medical care. The company utilizes the latest technologies to produce reliable and easy to use tools that make a significant and positive impact on the quality and cost of patient care delivery and the prosperity of its physician clients throughout North America. The company currently has over 200 employees and is proud to serve over 5000 physicians within medical group practices, community health centers, and hospitals throughout the United States and Canada. For more information please visit www.purkinje.com.

Contact:

Purkinje
Joel Andersen, 314-993-4378
jandersen@purkinje.com

###